Day 5

Tuscany

This morning you will meet with your guide for a private “Best of Florence” walking tour.

From the Ponte Vecchio to the Duomo, Florence’s most famous sights are famous for good reason – don’t miss a single one! On this Florence walking tour you’ll discover all of the city’s top sights, travelling in small groups of only 15 people or fewer. With skip the line access at Michelangelo’s David and Florence Duomo, we make the most of every second we have together, while our expert guides bring the city to life with stories and details from Florence’s long and dramatic past.

SAVE TIME WAITING IN LINE TO SEE DAVID

Feel like a VIP with skip the line access into the Accademia, Florence, avoiding general access entrance lines that can last for hours.

Once inside, your expert guide will reveal the fascinating history of Michelangelo’s David, whose beauty and size have to be seen to be believed. You’ll also see his unfinished Slaves. Emerging from crude blocks of marble, they give an incredible insight into how Michelangelo worked and how difficult it must have been to achieve that butter-like softness in his sculptures.

VISIT THE INCREDIBLE FLORENCE DUOMO

Another sure highlight will be Florence’s famous cathedral, the Duomo. As you admire the sparkling mosaics and exquisite frescoes, you’ll discover how the architect, Brunelleschi, had to re-learn knowledge lost for more than a millennium to build the cathedral’s world-famous dome. We’ll explore Florence Duomo inside and out, admiring the painted interior of the dome and the stunning marble work on the cathedral floor.

Before leaving the picturesque Piazza del Duomo, you’ll stop at the Baptistery. During a close look at the world-renowned golden Gates of Paradise, your guide will tell you stories of cutthroat competition that created the sparkling masterpiece. Don’t forget to ask any questions you have.

ENJOY A FLORENCE WALKING TOUR OF THE BEST PIAZZAS, OUTDOOR ART & PONTE VECCHIO BRIDGE

But your exploration isn’t over yet. At Piazza della Signoria, you’ll admire Florence’s other world-famous sight, the towering Palazzo Vecchio, visiting the original site for Michelangelo’s ‘David’, where an exact replica stands.

Hear the stories behind the statues at Orsanmichele Church, rub the Porcellino pig's nose for good luck, and feel swept up by history at the Piazza della Repubblica, the ancient Roman forum that later became the city's Jewish ghetto. Top it all off with a stroll on the Ponte Vecchio, the most picturesque bridge in all of Florence – perhaps all of Italy.

The afternoon will be at your own leisure to stroll around Florence or your drive can take you back to the Le Boscarecce for a cooking class with Susanna or some relaxing time by the pool.

Accommodation: Le Boscarecce – Standard rooms with breakfast & dinner

Tuscany

Enjoy a wonderful private excursion to visit some of the loveliest Tuscan towns! Your first stop today after a scenic one hour drive through the countryside is San Gimignano. A small medieval town in Tuscany, San Gimignano has a splendid skyline made up of 13 towers.

This 11th century town rises 334 meters above the Elsa Valley along the ancient "Via Francigena" on which traders and pilgrims going to Rome traveled. San Gimignano prospered considerably during this period thanks to this route and all the inns that were built along its way to accommodate these travelers. With prosperity, many patrons in San Gimignano were able to hire the best craftsmen and artists to magnificently decorate the churches and monasteries here. Dante Alighieri came to San Gimignano on May 8, 1300 as the Ambassador of the Guelph League in Tuscany. Today, San Gimignano's important cultural and natural heritage have been recognized by UNESCO.

As in all of Italy, the Black Plague of 1348 greatly reduced the population of San Gimignano and led the city into a grave economic depression and caused the town to submit to Florence's rule in 1353. Later in the centuries though, San Gimignano rediscovered its cultural importance and beauty together with its agriculture and eventually overcame its decline becoming the beautifully restored town it is today. In spite of its rather small size there is plenty to admire in San Gimignano.

Besides its 13 remaining towers (there were once about 40!), you can also see the "Duomo" or Collegiate Church and its magnificent frescoes, the "Palazzo del Popolo", the "Palazzo Nuovo del Podestà" which is now the town hall. Other interesting places to see are church dedicated to Saint Augustine with its famous fresco cycle of this Saint's life painted by Benozzo Gozzoli, the Museum of Holy Relics, and the infamous Museum of Torture and its macabre displays of early torture instruments.

You will love just wandering up and down the main street in San Gimignano and going in and out of the numerous specialty shops. The ceramics are beautiful here but there are also places for buying leather goods and linens. For food and wine lovers there are many shops that sell delicious local products including San Gimignano's "Vernaccia" white wine. You will be able to taste this wine in several of the wine stores in the town.

Next stop on the way from San Gimignano to Siena is Monteriggioni. This is one of the best known and classic walled towns in Tuscany. Also on the Via Francigena, this village was built on a hill by the Senese between 1213 and 1219 to overlook the ancient Roman road, the Via Cassia. This was a perfect position allowing for surveillance of the valleys below in the direction of the city of Florence, which was the historic enemy of Siena. We'll be making a lunch stop here at a typical trattoria where we'll enjoy some mouth-watering Tuscan food before we go on our way Siena.

No trip to Tuscany is complete without a day trip to Siena, the birthplace of the beloved Italian Saint Catherine. This beautiful city made of brown Siena-colored bricks (so that's how they named the color!), its jumble of narrow streets and delightful squares, the medieval towers that make such a spectacular skyline, its spectacular cathedral, the tall and trim Torre del Mangia, all together create an enticing atmosphere almost like stepping back in time.

Siena is built on three hills and is home to one of the most authentic and important Gothic cathedrals south of the Alps. Despite the city's architectural masterpieces, it is the unusual shell-shaped Piazza del Campo that receives the most consideration having been seen in numerous films and photographs. This brick covered square is used twice a year for the famous "Palio" horserace, an event that involves the entire population and is considered one of the most important events in the life of the Senese people.

This reckless bareback race is run on July 2nd and August 16th, has Roman origins but has first been officially recorded in 1283. A kind of happy frenzy rules over Siena during the time leading up to the Palio and visitors can get the chance to observe the locals during the many ceremonies that are involved in the "Palio" race. Almost anything will be done to win this extremely competitive race and bring home the "Palio" a silk banner that will proudly displayed in the "contrada" or neighborhood it represents.
